

Propel Orthodontics Consent

Your treatment will involve a technique to accelerate your orthodontic treatment. Although rare, there are specific risks associated.

The tissue around the treatment area could become inflamed or infected which could require the use of antibiotics or antimicrobial rinses. It is possible that an instrument could break (ie: upon insertion or removal). If this occurs, the broken piece may be left in your mouth or may be surgically removed. This may require referral to another dental specialist.

It is also possible that damage to the root of a tooth, a nerve, or maxillary sinus may occur. Usually these problems are not significant. However, additional dental or medical treatment may be necessary.

Local anesthetic may be used, which also has risk. Please advise the doctor if you have had any difficulties with dental anesthetics in the past.

If any of the complications mentioned above do occur, a referral may be necessary to your family dentist or another dental or medical specialist for further treatment. Fees for these services are not included in the cost of orthodontic treatment.
